

DOG PARK OPENS

The Jessamine County Dog Park was opened with a ribbon-cutting ceremony on Monday, May 21. The one and ½ acre park was two years in the making and was the community project of the Jessamine County 4H K-9 Obedience Training Club. Club President Sally Arias asks dog owners to “read the rules, keep the park clean, and have fun.” The Adopt-A-Fence program is an opportunity to raise money to cover the construction costs of the park and to show support. A $100. donation sponsors a 5-foot section of fence with a plaque recognizing the donor.

Jessamine County 4H K-9 Club President Sally Arias wielded the scissors at the Jessamine Dog Park opening. In attendance were (left to right): Parks & Recreation Director Scott Campbell, Nicholasville Mayor Russ Meyer, City Commissioner Chris Moore, K-9 Club member Kristin Lawless, Nicholasville City Commissioner Andy Williams, Magistrate Duane McCuddy, Magistrate John Nickell, Magistrate George Dean, K-9 Club member Blake Lawless, Magistrate Tim Vaughan, K-9 Club member Rogan Jewel, K-9 Club member Elise Tolliver, and Senator Tom Buford.
